Many Enrolled For First Five Weeks

Total of 145 Courses Are Offered During the Complete Summer Session.

Nearly six hundred students had enrolled in the College for the first five weeks term, as class work began in earnest this week.

Many of the students are teachers who are continuing their work toward a degree. Others are teachers who have degrees but who still find it profitable to put in a summer's work here.

A few who were in school last year are continuing their work this summer. Still others are earning semester hours for the first time.

The summer session, in keeping with a custom of several years standing, is divided into two terms of five weeks each. Courses which give two and one-half hours of credit meet twice a day for five weeks. Two twice-a-day classes may be taken during each five week's term. The divided quarter permits those who wish to attend school only a part of the summer to earn five hours of credit.

The first term of five weeks, ending July 3, offers some forty-six courses of the twice-a-day variety. The most popular hour for five weeks courses during the first term is the 8:50-3:05 combination, the class program listing 18 of these.

Starting July 8 and closing August 8, the second five weeks term presents classes under thirty-eight different titles. Again the 8:50-3:05 hours are the most popular, sixteen of them being listed for the second period.

For students who are to attend school during the entire ten weeks term, sixty-one courses have been scheduled in the various departments. The 8:45 and the 10:40 periods are the most popular of the once-a-day classes, fifteen being offered at the first hour and sixteen at the second.

In addition to the regularly scheduled courses, students have enrolled for practice teaching work in the college elementary and high schools.

A number of outside activities have been planned for the quarter. The college swimming pool is open in the afternoons and on certain evenings. The student activity ticket permits its owner to play golf on the Maryville Country Club links. The college tennis courts, located east of the gymnasium, are open to students.

Men students have plenty of opportunities for recreational sports in the intramural softball league and the tennis, horseshoe, and golf tournaments.

The major and minor activity entertainments are scheduled for later in the quarter as is the traditional all-school party, sponsored by Student Senate.

Miss Ruth Lowery, who is on leave of absence from the English department to attend Yale University, has been notified that the degree of Doctor of Philosophy will be conferred on her on June 19.

Assembly Schedule

President Uel W. Lamkin has announced the assembly schedule for the remainder of the summer session. All scheduled assemblies are to be on Wednesdays. The time alternates between 9:45 a.m. and 10:40 a.m.

Dr. Arthur M. Harding of the University of Arkansas will give an illustrated lecture on "Other Worlds Than Ours" in the College auditorium Tuesday night, June 18.

His lectures are planned for those who have not made a specific study of science. They are richly illustrated by beautiful lantern slides. Dr. Harding has lectured at 170 colleges in 36 states, and has filled three and four return engagements at many of the schools.

This lecture is to be the minor entertainment of the summer quarter, provided for in the activity fee.

Neil High Pointer in Western AAU Meet

Herschel Neil, Bearcat track and field star, won a first, two seconds and a third to pile up 13 points and win a third for Maryville in the Western A. A. U. meet held in Kansas City last Saturday.

Neil was the high point man for the meet, but as the meet was only a qualifying meet for the National A. A. U. meet to be held at Nebraska U. July 2 and 3, there was no recognition for the high point man.

Competing for the first time since the State MIAA meet, May 12, Neil surprised the followers of track, in winning the hop-step-and-jump, and by setting a new record in the 100 meter race in the preliminary held in the afternoon.

Although Neil raced the 100 meters in record time in the preliminary event in the afternoon, he was beaten in the same time that night by Dunn, colored star of the Pittsburg State Teachers. Dunn also won the 200 meter race to be one of the two double winners of the meet. Neil ran a close second in the 200 meter race but was unable to overtake Dunn at the finish.

Neil's jump of 22 feet, six inches was good for a third, just 2 inches back of the second place winner. However, the winning jump, by King of Pittsburg State Teachers, was a foot better than Neil could travel through the air.

Mehus Addresses Rotary Club

"International Good Will" Topic of Speech to Encouraging Peace.

Dr. O. Myking Mehus, head of the Department of Sociology at the College, gave an address before the Maryville Rotary Club on Wednesday noon on "International Good Will." In opening his address, Dr. Mehus pointed out that the sixth object of Rotary is "To encourage and foster the advancement of understanding, good will, and international peace thru a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service."

"The Rotary International is one of the strongest organizations for encouraging good-will and peace that we have in the world," declared Dr. Mehus. "Through its nearly 4,000 Rotary Clubs in practically every country in the world it is a vital factor in bringing about mutual understanding and good-will among the nations."

"We realize the old order of affairs is fast changing. Advanced methods of communication are bringing the whole world together in close relationships. This morning's paper tells us that the French liner Normandie made the trip across the Atlantic Ocean in a record breaking time of four days, three hours and twenty-eight minutes. We are living in a different world today from the world of Washington. The United States cannot keep aloof from Europe and Asia."

"Today there is no such thing as an 'all-sufficient' country, for every nation is dependent upon every other nation. A recent study shows that Kansas City imports nearly two hundred products from forty-six nations, and in turn ships out products to thirty-seven nations. Today we realize that anything that hinders world trade is a barrier to world peace. Therefore, students of Economics are advocating the gradual elimination of tariff barriers between nations."

"We know that war destroys the things for which men fight. We fought the last war for security, and still, the last war set up permanent enemies which endanger the security of the various European countries. The last war was fought for economic advancement, and instead of bringing economic advancement it brought a world-wide depression. It strangled world trade. It brought on huge debts which every sane man knows will never be paid. The last war was a war to end war, and still, today, the nations of the world are spending more money for armament than ever before. We are told that the last war was a war for democracy. Yet, as a result of the last war we have dictatorships in Russia, Italy and Germany. We were told that the last war was a war to bring about a new world order and righteousness. Yet today we know that the last war brought hate, fear and injustice on every hand."

"At the present time the ruling passion in France seems to be security; in Germany, unity; the United States, isolation; Russia, Communism; Italy, imperialism; Great Britain, diplomacy; and Japan, expansion. If you take the first letter of each of these words we would have spelled SUICIDE, and you realize that if the nations continue under the present mad, selfish disregard for other nations that it will bring havoc and misery."

"The old saying was 'In time of peace, prepare for war'. I believe we should substitute for that slogan the saying, 'In time of peace, prepare for neutrality'. I believe that the United States should enact the laws proposed by our own Senator Clark, which would place an embargo on the shipment of all armaments or ammunition and other war materials to belligerents in time of war. It would also place an embargo on all loans and credit on the warring nations for the purchase of war materials or other contraband. It would forbid the grants of passports to armed citizens traveling in war zones or on belligerents' ships. And finally it would determine that anyone who exports any article declared to be contraband of war by any belligerent country should do so at his own risk or at the risk of the foreign government or the purchaser in the foreign country. This would, of course, eliminate the war profits of the Duponts and the Morgans, but it would also tend to prevent our country from being involved in European wars. I also believe that our country ought to adopt the resolution of Senator Nye, who is advocating taking the profits out of war by placing a 100 per cent income tax on all incomes of corporations and individuals that are over and above $10,000 a year. It is absolutely unfair to send young men to the trenches to be destroyed, and at the same time to allow profiteers at home to reap huge profits."

First Assembly Held Wednesday Morning

The first assembly of the summer session was held Wednesday morning at 10:40 o'clock. There will be an assembly each Wednesday morning, according to the announcement made by President Uel W. Lamkin, for the remainder of the term but it will not be held at the same hour each week.

The first part of the program was presented by the faculty of the conservatory of music and consisted of two piano selections by Mrs. Hermann Schuster, violin selections by Mr. Alphonse Gailiewicz and vocal solos by Mr. Hermann Schuster.

Following the program by the faculty of the conservatory of music a discussion on adult education was given by Dr. Eugene Briggs, director of adult education in the state of Missouri.

Floyd Harvey, who was in school here '23-'24-'25, and his three-year-old son Richard "Dickie," called at the Alumni office at the College a short time ago. For the last seven years Mr. Harvey has been teaching commerce and instrumental music in the famous School of the Ozarks at Hollister.

Mrs. Harvey, the former Reba Pace, whose home was at Tina, and who was in school here '23-'24, is postmistress at Point Lookout, the postoffice for the school and that territory. Mr. Harvey's home was at Chillicothe.

Faculty Dames entertained their husbands with a steak fry in McNeil's farm Thursday evening. The steak fry was in place of the last meeting of the year.

Mrs. C. E. Wells was in charge of preparations.

NEA Convention June 30--July 5

Seventy-Third Annual Meet Will Be Held in Denver—Unique Type of Discussion.

At this time many teachers, students, superintendents and others interested in the public schools and higher education in the United States are turning their attention to Denver, Colorado, where the seventy-third annual convention of the National Education Association is to be held June 30 to July 5.

A unique program, with emphasis upon the jury-panel type of discussion, is being arranged by President Henry Lester Smith. At least eight topics will be treated by this method. Six of the meetings devoted to this purpose will be sub-divisions of the general convention, so that all who are in attendance may have an opportunity to participate in the discussions in which they may have particular interest.

The needs of Adult Education, The Needs of Youth, Academic Freedom, The Economic Status of the Teacher, The Teacher as a Citizen, Education's Oldest Challenge—Character, Credit Unions, and The Teacher's Health, are the subjects around which this new method of convention discussion will center. Classroom teachers, school officers, and college specialists in the various fields will be represented on the panels.

Outstanding speakers on the general session programs include United States Senator Edward P. Costigan, of Colorado; Bishop Francis J. McConnell of the Methodist Episcopal Church; Superintendent A. J. Stoddard, president of the Department of Superintendence; John H. Finley, associate editor of the New York Times; Paul V. McNutt, Governor of Indiana; F. B. Knight, University of Iowa; Fred M. Hunter, chancellor of the University of Denver; W. H. Kilpatrick, Teachers College, Columbia University.

Special conferences in connection with the convention include a meeting of lay friends of education in which representatives of school boards will participate. For the first time at an NEA convention, problems of education in the CCC camps will be discussed. Plans for this conference are being prepared under the direction of L. W. Rogers, educational adviser of the Eighth Corps Area, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, and a former officer of the NEA.

Convention sessions will begin with a vesper service Sunday afternoon, June 30, and will close with the evening meeting on July 4. Meeting of the Representative Assembly will begin on Tuesday morning, July 2. On July 5, entertainment will be provided for the visiting teachers and other representatives by the Denver, Colorado, teachers.

Alpha chapter of Kappa Omicron Phi met Wednesday afternoon in regular business meeting. Plans were made for housecleaning at the cabin in College Park which the organization owns. Activities and pledges are to meet at the cabin on Monday afternoon, June 17, at four o'clock. A picnic supper will be served at 6 o'clock.

Why Not Have a Baseball Team?

After looking over the activity ticket for the summer I discover there are four athletic events on that ticket and, so far as I can find, there will be no athletics at the College this summer, so why not a college baseball team?

A few years ago the College had one of the best collegiate teams in this section. There is good material here now.

Among the boys in College who have lettered in baseball or played with the College team of a few years back are: Max Seyster, shortstop; Harold Bird, first base; Laurence Phelps, catcher; and several other men who have played on former teams. Two of the best pitchers ever to attend the College are now enrolled in summer school, Wright and Woods. There are also several other pitchers in school.

I am sure the College could have a baseball team that would be able to make a creditable showing against anything in this section of the state.

Of course there is the problem of money to support the team and then there is the problem of getting games for the team—but these are only minor details—Let's have a College baseball team this summer!

Adult Education Training Course

Classes Being Held at College Are For Those Who Expect to Lead Adult Education.

Superintendents, teachers, and others interested in adult education are meeting at the College this week under the leadership of Eugene S. Briggs, State Supervisor of Adult Education, for a course of training designed to help all those who expect to participate in the program for next year in Northwest Missouri.

The work which is being offered at the College this week is a part of the state-wide program of the State Department of Education cooperating with the Missouri Relief and Reconstruction Commission at Jefferson City. It is under the Educational Division, of which Roy Ferguson is the director. Each state teachers college is making it possible for all teachers who are interested in Adult Education to receive a week of special training during the summer session.

In addition to this special week of training at the College a regular course in Adult Education (one of the first ever offered in this territory) is being offered under the direction of Miss Elizabeth White, a member of the department of Education of the College. Students in this class are attending the special sessions this week and other faculty members and their classes have been invited to attend the discussions.

Sessions which are being held every day this week at 9:45 a. m. and at 4 p. m., include the following programs: Monday, Lecture, "The 1934-1935 Program"; Tuesday, Symposium, "Every One's Opportunity in a Program in Adult Education"; Wednesday, A Panel, "An Effective Program of Adult Education"; Thursday, Forum, "The Community University"; and Friday, "Our Local Problems" and "Future Program."

In his lectures on Monday, Mr. Briggs discussed the work that has been progressing in Missouri, and the plans for the future, including the new movement under was at Washington to try to care for the two million American youths between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five who are not able to find employment and are not being cared for in the CCC Camps, or by the student aid program.

Mr. Briggs explained that the Adult Education movement is really not a new movement, since it has been in progress in some of the European countries for many years and since phases of American education can rightly be classed as Adult Education.

He expressed the thought that if the emergency direct education aid should be reduced that the Adult Education in which so much interest has been shown recently would probably be carried on through some of the educational facilities at hand.

Mr. Briggs also raised the question as to whether or not it isn't as important to look after forty years of educational needs of adults deeply interested in practical life problems as it is to look after fourteen years of education for children and youths not particularly interested in vital problems.

In August of last year, according to figures compiled for the state, there were 1,166 enrolled in Adult Education classes, and in March there were 69,017 working under the direction of 1249 teachers. One hundred eighty-two of the teachers employed in the program had college and university teaching experience. Five hundred six had 120 or more college hours credit, including 188 who had 150 or more college hours of credit. Three hundred seventy-one of the teachers were men.

Included in the gross total enrollment of 93,078 were 47,996 in General Adult Education; 19,836 in Elementary Education; 8,171 in Workers Education; 15,820 in Vocational Education; and 1,258 in Nursery Schools. Approximately 62 per cent of those enrolled in classes were unemployed.

An analysis of the type of work demanded by those who are studying in the classes and participating in the various organizations, is shown in the following subject list: English, Elementary subjects, music, history, government, economics, commercial and related subjects, home making, mathematics, physical education, applied and industrial arts, parent education, sciences, dramatics, general subjects, languages, agriculture, vocational subjects, and nursery training. Mr. Briggs pointed out that there were 8,352 persons enrolled voluntarily in 359 classes of mathematics.

The program for next year is to be built on the interest and demands of the people.

According to Mr. Briggs, plans are being made for a four-weeks training course in Adult Education to be held at Columbia, July 8 to August 3.

compete in the hop-step-and-jump Neil said, "I am afraid they will make fun of me, I have never tried to jump that way." But after being persuaded to try, Neil beat the best jump to that time on his first try. The second try was nearly two feet better than the second place winner and just one-half inch from the record. The pit was not long enough for him to jump any further.

This record of Neil's should be recognized as the outstanding athletic record of the 1934-35 school year.

Coach Stalcup will take Neil to the National A. A. U. meet at Lincoln where he will compete with the best athletes in the country.

Reserve Tennis Courts

There is no more waiting around, racquet in hand, looking wistfully at filled tennis courts. Coach Stalcup has announced that beginning today courts may be reserved from seven until seven. Either telephone Hanamo 5670 or 3670, or stop by the gymnasium and ask to have a court reserved. Once your name is on the book, the court will be held ten minutes for you. If you are not there at that time, some person who has forgotten to reserve a court will get it. A reservation is good for one hour when people are waiting for the courts. Otherwise you may play as long as you can.

The United States

Within the past few weeks, the temporary house of cards built by the NRA has been shattered. American industry was under codes covering approximately 22,000,000 workers of the nation's 30,000,000 industrial workers. For the present, at least, the code is a thing of the past. The Supreme Court rendered a decision to the effect that code making authority of the President which was conferred upon him by Congress was a violation of the American Constitution. In the wake of the sudden disruptions, came a variety of suggestions as to the possible remedies—a constitutional convention, a limitation of the powers of the Supreme Court—The President approaches the breach with the suggestion for a skeletonized NRA; that is, an NRA to run until April 1, 1936 free from code control. The House of Representatives has approved, and there is strong likelihood of Senate approval. The President suggests a new statute which would require all bidders for government contracts to maintain minimum wages, maximum hours, and collective bargaining rights. The Republicans have at last waked from their lethargy and have found a loophole in the present administration. The leaders of the party have come together in the Grass Roots Conference to formulate a general platform for the campaign of 1936. The tendency is pointing to a Republican appeal in the next campaign to the popular mind to save the constitution at all costs. A general coal strike and some hint of similar strikes in the textile industries are predicted for the midsummer.

Great Britain

When Great Britain changes her government she sometimes does it quietly. Ramsey MacDonald became Lord President of the Council and Stanley Baldwin, Prime Minister. MacDonald handed his resignation recently to George V and Baldwin was instructed immediately in a conference lasting but fifteen minutes to form a new cabinet. The new cabinet is conservative.

France

France has a more difficult time than Great Britain. The complexity of the party organization of the French government is largely the cause of this confusion. President Lebrun had a hard time finding any one who could successfully form a cabinet. Flandin failed. Bouisson failed. Laval failed but tried again and his cabinet was finally accepted by the Chamber of Deputies. He invited parliamentary leaders and party members of the left group to form a cabinet but they refused because of their inefficiency to do so. The discontent of the Socialistic factions of the French parties is causing much of the present trouble.

Chaco

Paraguay and Bolivia have reached an agreement for temporary accord. Five American nations have been asked to act as mediators between the warring countries at The Hague Court.

There have been continuous clashes between these countries since 1928, and an ill feeling since the date of their first independence. The contention has come mainly over the rich oil fields of the Chaco region. Since 1879, this dispute has been a handicap to the peaceful relations among the countries of South America.

At no time have the forces engaged from Bolivia whose population is 3,000,000 and from Paraguay whose population is 1,000,000 exceeded 100,000, yet the casualties have reached the 100,000 mark. This section is perhaps one of the most horrible spots of modern warfare.

Finland

Perhaps the larger countries of Europe find it to their benefit to default in payment of their war debts to the United States, but the small country of Finland has never failed in payment. Her annual payment of $230,000 comes due this week. This regular payment is considered a stroke of good will between the two countries.

China

The Chinese in moving from northern China and Japan have demanded a suppression of all anti-Japanese societies. This is to give the Japanese government some security from the onslaughts of the Chinese bandits in northern China who have been recently infesting the country.

Greece

Greece had a monarchist plebiscite Sunday, but the forces of the government won the election. The monarchists and the governmental forces have been busy for some time in anticipation of this election. There was some chance of the restoration of George II who was forced to abdicate in 1922.
